

Holli B. Harris

NextLevel

Currently, Holli is an extended team member of Seattle-based NextLevel, which provides executive and board services on an interim, project and advisory basis.

Holli launched HadleyStilwell in 2008. Based on performance metrics and the business model, which incorporated social responsibility in all aspects, HadleyStilwell was recognized and awarded a grant by the Eileen Fisher Women In Business nationwide competition in 2010.

Prior to founding HadleyStilwell, Holli served in a variety of international business development, finance and product development positions and industries at Corbis Corporation, Amgen, Frog Design, Dresdner Kleinwort Benson, ARCO International, and Western Atlas International (currently Halliburton) with an emphasis on initiating strategic and financial discussions around global trends, emerging technologies and cross-industry opportunities that retain and/or strengthen market position. She previously worked at the U.S. State Department in the office of Russian Affairs in Washington, DC, and at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

Holli was appointed to the Board of Directors of Chindex International in 2004, the first foreign healthcare network in China. She chaired the Audit Committee and served on the Compensation Committee. Holli served as a Director for seven years on the board of Washington CASH (Community Alliance for Self Help), including an expanded role as Chair during Executive Director transition driving mission scorecard and board effectiveness initiatives. She is Vice Chair on the Board of Trustees for Bloodworks Northwest.

Holli speaks Russian, French, and Spanish, and she is a member of the National Association of Corporate Directors (NACD). Her interests include technology commercialization, global trends, community building, travel, scuba, and being a Girl Scout troop leader.

EDUCATION: U.C. Davis (Dual BA in International Relations & Russian Language 1988)
University of Michigan (MBA in Finance & Corporate Strategy 1996)