

Molly Firth

Principal
MCG Consulting

Molly Firth is a health policy consultant in Washington State. She is also a clinical instructor in the University of Washington's School of Public Health, co-teaching health policy development and providing mentorship to students.

A maternal health advocate, Molly shares her personal story and pushes for change to reduce maternal mortality and morbidity through policy change and participation on the Washington State Maternal Mortality Review Panel.

Prior to forming MCG Consulting, Molly was the Director of Public Policy at the Community Health Network of Washington, a network of community-based health clinics across the state, and Community Health Plan of Washington, the state's only safety net health plan. She advocated for Washington State's community health centers for over ten years and is committed to improving access to health care for uninsured and underserved individuals and families.

Molly received her Master of Public Health degree from Tufts University School of Medicine and a BA in Biology from the University of San Diego. She has served on the boards of WithinReach and the Ballard Preschool Cooperative and is currently Vice Chair of the Board of Trustees of Bloodworks Northwest.
