

Orlando Williams

CEO / Chief Equity Officer
Motus Recruiting and Staffing, Inc.

Before founding Motus in 2006, Orlando began his recruiting career as an ambassador for prospective University of Oregon athletes. He also served in a high-profile advocacy role as a player and Community Outreach Ambassador of Goodwill for the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters and as a corporate recruiter at the Nike World Headquarters.

Under Orlando's leadership, Motus is one of the leading recruiting firms in the Pacific Northwest. As one of the few certified Oregon MBE recruiting firms, Motus aims to educate individuals and organizations on the importance of diversity, equity, and inclusion in the workforce. In 2016, Orlando founded the Oregon Diversity Recruiting Council, which offers strategies and training to recruit, retain, and promote BIPOC candidates in Oregon-based organizations.

In addition to his contributions to the community, Orlando was a game analyst for the Portland Trail Blazers. In his spare time, he enjoys Bible study, spending time with his wife and kids, traveling, and reading an endless number of history books.

Orlando was elected to the Bloodworks Board of Trustees in 2023.
